

Google™ Custom Search

Login/Register |
 Contests |
 E-Newsletter |
 Print Edition |
 Archives |
 RSS

HERE COME THE MUMMIES
 LIVE IN CONCERT • OCTOBER 29

CASINOS |
 FOOD & DRINK |
 ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT |
 NEWS & VIEWS |
 EVENTS |
 MULTIMEDIA |
 REAL ESTATE |
 MARKETPLACE

This week's top stories, events & promotions right in your inbox! Sign up for the AC Weekly eNewsletter Now!

NEWS & VIEWS > WHITNEY'S RADAR

Country's in Lee's Cards

By Whitney Ullman

Posted Oct. 19, 2011 | Comments: 0 | Add Comment

As I write my weekly columns, typically I need silence all around me, but sometimes if the TV is going or my iTunes are playing, it can help me think better.

Go figure. Lately I've been enjoying different music tunes, other than the typical dance beats I usually listen to. I can't help it, I'm stuck in the '90s when it comes to music!

However, in recent weeks I've been hearing a lot about this country rocker dubbed the Jersey Outlaw, Jimmie Lee. He takes his passion for poker and marries it with the perfect lyrics and musical beats to keep you moving and singing along. Lee says, "Poker is a good part of my life, and I consider myself a good intermediate player, who plays on occasion, but knows the odds of the game and can handle myself at the table."

If you get to know Jimmie Lee, you'll soon find out his outgoing personality is second to none. He also hangs with a hot posse called the Bandito Girls, and the biggest shock factor is that this isn't his full-time gig. He is actually a very successful full-time dentist with three offices in southern New Jersey. As he puts it, "Dentist by day, country rocker by night."

He writes all of his songs, both the lyrics and the music, and then has it produced by Grammy-nominated music producer David Ivory of Philadelphia and his assistant producer, Joe Lam. The reaction from his new songs such as "Kid Vegas," "Hit the River Running," "I'm All In" and other related songs hit the jackpot amongst both the general public and the poker community. In fact, "Hit the River Running" was inspired by the need for a good poker song for poker players.

"My goal was to capture the pure emotions a poker player feels as they sweat it out when that crucial card could seal their fate," says Lee, whose song, "I'm All In," is featured on televised poker events and celebrity tournaments.

Jimmie Lee starts his Outlaw Road Tour later this fall. He'll be hitting venues all over the country including Atlantic City as well as other major cities such as: Las Vegas, New York City, Philadelphia and Los Angeles. His new album, Jimmie Lee - Kid Vegas, will hit the stands next month, and you can be sure it will raise the stakes.

Jimmie Lee, Jersey Outlaw

WE'RE GIVING AWAY
4 CADILLAC CTS COUPES

BRIGHTON AND THE BOARDWALK, ATLANTIC CITY, NJ 08401
 GAMBLING PROBLEM? CALL 1-800-GAMBLER.

MORE

- Article: Honoring Our Heroes
- Article: Judge Not, Lest Ye Be Judged
- Article: 'Boardwalk Empire' Lucky Charms
- Article: 'Hope Cuts' and More
- Article: 'Shakers' Get Star Treatment
- Article: Healthy Cocktails? Not an Oxymoron.
- Article: Mr. Nightlife: Howard Weiss
- Article: 10 More Cheap Thrills

EARN ENTRIES:
OCTOBER 1-29

DRAWING:
OCTOBER 29

BRIGHTON AND THE BOARDWALK, ATLANTIC CITY, NJ 08401
 GAMBLING PROBLEM? CALL 1-800-GAMBLER

Add to Favorites |
 Print |
 Send to Friend

Atlantic City Weekly
 on Facebook