Bob Kelly, WPI Release New Christmas Song and More

Three local musicians have teamed up to release a brand new Christmas Song. After the attacks on 9/11, Warminster area musician-publishing guru and song-writer Bob Kelly penned a simple yet powerful new Christmas standard called "Christmas Tree." It's an intense message of peace and love and needed the right production to bring it together. That's where the magic of Jameson Van Horn came in. Also from the Warminster area, Jameson has the classical training and quick musical thinking necessary to pull such a paired-down ballad into it's righteous place of dramatics. And completing the trifecta is Levittown's own singer-songwriter, love-lost ballad with classical piano rolling over heart-wrenching vocals. Bob Kelly and his WPI team have certainly put together a power trio who are well on their way to being a force to be reckoned with in original song production in Bucks County.

Loretta Allen. A singer of true conviction that brought her own Christmas memories and spiritual ideals to the table in her haunting vocals and passionate delivery of the song. Christmas Tree will be released November 1st on CD-Baby.com. But if Christmas music isn't exactly your thing, stay tuned because these three enjoyed recording this song together so much that they immediately recorded a second song that will be released to major radio and internet soon called, "Please Don't Go."
