

Jimmie Lee "Hits The River Running" With New Poker Single and Album

Jimmie Lee, the Jersey Outlaw, has got brand new songs for all poker fans. The album, "Jimmie Lee – Kid Vegas," is set to debut with the hot, new single "Hit the River Running" and was co-written by hot, Aussie chick and poker guru Danielle Adams Benham and promises to take the poker world by storm. Lee's killer vocals drive the song's hard rock beat and perfectly capture the emotions poker players feel as they sweat out the river card that could seal their fate.

Lee has already received critical acclaim for his first poker song, "I'm All In," and now he has the second poker tune ready to do the same. This single will be picked up by major poker magazines, poker radio and more! Rumor has it that the new tune may make it all the way to the final table of the World Series of Poker this November in Las Vegas!

Lee has just signed big deals with Hokeshouse House and Poker Euphoria, the Ladies Invitational Poker Series, and will be making select appearances at celebrity poker tournaments throughout the year. These events feature Jimmie and the Bandito Girls at live shows, which are always a hit with the poker crowd. So be sure to keep your eyes open for the Jersey Outlaw as he makes his way around the poker circuit.

So if you are looking for the right song to pump through your headset as you push your chips all in, this latest single from Jimmie Lee might just be what your mp3 player needs! You can check out the new song at www.jimmieleesongs.com, CDBaby, I-Tunes and youtube.com. ♠

Wynn Resorts Gets Approval for Second Macau Property

By Brian Pempus

Wynn Resorts's Macau enterprise recently announced that it had reached a deal with the government of the world's most profitable gaming market to build its second brick-and-mortar casino. According to the Associated Press, Wynn Macau will pay more than $193 million in land premiums, split into a down payment and eight semiannual payments, to the Macau government for the 25-year land lease. The government is also charging Wynn Macau $771,738 a year in rent during the resort's development, which will go up to about $1.08 million when the project is finished.

CEO Steve Wynn has said that he wants the $2.5 billion investment to be open by 2015. The resort is set to include about 1,500 hotel rooms, 500 table games and 1,300 slot machines, with 12 acres left over for further development and expansion. In addition to Wynn Resorts, major Nevada companies Las Vegas Sands Corp and MGM Resorts International operate in Macau, which is the only place where gambling is legal in China. The three corporations helped Macau casinos collect a record $23.5 billion in gaming revenue during 2010. This past August gaming revenues were up 57 percent compared to last year.

While casinos in Macau are flourishing, the majority of Nevada operators are holding steady or experiencing small gains in overall win. The Nevada Gaming Control Board said that the Silver State's non-restricted gaming licensees reported a total gaming win of $860 million for the month of July, marking a 3.66 percent increase compared to July 2010, when licensees reported a gaming win of $830 million. Strip casinos saw a 1.6 percent gain up to $468.5 million, the third straight monthly increase, while casinos in downtown and North Las Vegas saw gaming revenues grow more than 10 percent, and the Boulder Strip reporting a 13 percent gain. ♠
